

ABSTRACT

Genetically engineered hematopoietic progenitor cells that carry within them genes of interest, particularly for the expression of physiologically or pharmacologically active proteins. The hematopoietic progenitor cells are transduced in the presence of human mesenchymal stem cells which enhance transduction efficiency.

SECRET